The Town Clock.

The clock in the steeple has stood at half past ten or thereabouts for many days, and Mr. John Howard went up to investigate it yesterday, but found that it had been tampered with by some boys and other people visiting the tower until it was badly out of condition. The dial has been removed and placed back and the water has ron inside and made the pendulum rust, so it will require considerable work to repair it. The city should have it done at once. The cost would be triffing, and if in repair the clock would be of great benefit to all and a credit to the city.
